The Tulsa Day Center for the Homeless is a non-profit center providing clients with the need to overcome homelessness, providing a health clinic, case management and the ability to re-enter the community and provide housing on a daily basis.

DATE: October 5, 2019

LOCATION: Studio Row - home of the historic Church Studio and Shelter Records. Owned by Leon Russell, the studio is currently under extensive renovation to honor the past music and musicians that played in this historic location.

JAMIE OLDAKER: For over forty years, Jamie Oldaker has built a career in the music industry as one of the world's most respected drummers. Jamie began his career with Leon Russell at the Church Studio as a session musician. He joined Bob Seger and recorded the original Turn the Page track. Bassist Carl Radle introduced Jamie's playing to Eric Clapton and was then asked to come to Miami and be a part of Eric's band in 1974 and recorded 461 Ocean Boulevard, which was the beginning of a long career and friendship with Clapton. Jamie will be joining Eric again this summer at the Crossroads Guitar Festival 2019.

MUSIC: This year's musicians will include the great artists that were part of the Tulsa Sound, along with the Subdudes from New Orleans, Ann Bell of the Tulsa Sound, John Fullbright and more. This event is a fundraiser with proceeds benefitting both the Tulsa Day Center for the Homeless and The Church Studio Music Foundation. Artists will have all expenses (travel, food, accommodations, etc.) provided.
